Susan Schwartz

Susan Schwartz has been practicing and studying Jin Shin Jyutsu® since her first class with Mary Burmeister in 1982 and loving every minute of it. She began teaching worldwide in 2002 and maintains an active Jin Shin Jyutsu practice treating clients in Baltimore and Washington, DC.

SUSAN BRINGS A DYNAMIC, MULTI-FACETED, AND FUN APPROACH TO THE STUDY OF JIN SHIN JYUTSU.

Her background in clinical psychology, social work, and special education serves as a solid foundation for her unique and enlightening awareness of this profound art.

Full of humor and insight, Susan's classes offer a relaxing and exciting learning environment. Promoting a fresh wonder for the material, her approach is grounded yet inspiring as she not only shares her expansive knowledge of the art of Jin Shin Jyutsu, but also focuses on teaching her students the subtle nuances of body reading, how to be a good practitioner, and ethics.

She also offers the refreshing reminder to all of her students that "less is more"—in other words, Jin Shin Jyutsu is a very powerful modality that should be treated as such. She mentors new practitioners and makes it a priority to be there for them as they embark on their journeys exploring the practice of Jin Shin Jyutsu.
